

sinclair's decision to use the public airways for partisan purposes is a violation of public trust. We need to return to a requirement for fair, balanced, and accurate programming. This situation also demonstrates the problems with media concentration and its narrowing of information and viewpoints offered to the public.